Human enslavement continues to this day. In the form of human trafficking. Encarceral or wage slavery. In every nation this heinous practice continues unabated. Millions of men, women and children are chained & shackled both literally and in every other way in every community rich or poor, around the world. Including mine and yours.

Why anything else matters is a fair if immoral and deeply unethical question. Especially egocentric. Uncovering the many ways humanity imagines the universe still revolves around us and us alone. To the exclusion of the suffering, brutality and destruction we humans wage upon the multitude of all the other lifeforms on this Earth.

It is the truism, a central tenant of human rights and freedom activism, that the time to change a wrong is the moment it is realized. And yet... human slavery flourishes. Abolition of human slavery has been an abject failure, So why would we - why should we? - give a moment's thought about the enslavement of animals? For the exact same reason. It is wrong. It is evil. It must stop along with all other forms of bondage.

• •

Human beings must stop owning, holding, imprisoning, manipulating and murdering any and all animals. Forever. It is a barbaric and inhumane practice against all our human moral codes and ethical values. It is wrong. This is evil. We must stop animal slavery now and never return to these unspeakable crimes against the other beings we share the Earth with. Now and forever.

This forever ban on animal enslavement by human beings applies to pets, those held in so called zoos, domestic so called livestock, hunted so called seafood, game or bushmeat. Any and all creatures we currently engage in murderous bondage.

The abolition of animal slavery now is not morally or ethically optional. This is essential to evolving our kindness, compassion and the depth of our humanity, Central to ending enslavement of our fellow human beings as well.

Continuation of animal slavery equals the maintenance of what is essentially a degraded and inferior human state. One marked by vast and heartless cruelty. The open debasement, torture and slaughter of countless billions of lifeforms. And, in so doing, the continuing and utter debasement of our humanity.

• • •

Humanity now lives as the deeply callous, bloodthirsty perpetrator of mass murder, unspeakable cruelty, complete disregard for the well being of every other life form on Earth. The scale of this horror cannot be under estimated or accurately grasped it is so vast. Trillions of beings have suffered and perished under our criminal domination. Trillions.

So called wild animals first and foremost. Then the twisted array of human altered creatures... dogs, cats and the insane pantheon of other beings enslaved in the “pet trade”. The billions of hens, cattle, goats, horses and other beings we imprison and/or kill for food. The legions of those locked in life sentence zoo prisons world wide. The collateral rape of our ocean “seafood” and land “bushmeat” lifeforms we also kill and consume. The list of our crimes against life on Earth is long, heinous, self damning..

That list must be reduced to zero.

Zero.

Zero.

• • • •

Zero means many things.

One. We must understand. Know. Accept. Act. Now.

Two. Lifeforms that have been genetically manipulated to be wholly dependant upon humanity must be allowed to slip into extinction. This includes those enslaved in the pet and livestock trade.

Three. All forms of foraging, hunting and fishing must be halted. World wide. By all peoples. Whether categorized as Indigenous or otherwise. Rendered illegal and protected by armed force whenever and wherever necessary. Which is to say on all lands and bodies of water. For the indefinite future. The only warlike behaviour that is moral, allowable, permissible and vital to our own survival itself.

Four. Human encroachment on all lands and waters must be radically limited to only those cities and surrounds already despoiled beyond redemption. Recoiling and limiting human populations to the tiniest fraction of our planet.

Five. The intensification and singular concentration of human agriculture and activities within those areas. Allowing no infringement upon the rest of the world. Securing forever, inviolably the habitats and lifeforms who keep the Earth in sustainable and perpetual balance.

Six. A million other consequences and actions unfolding from these core zero state truths. These central, essential movements to the reclaiming of our true humanity.

• • • • •

For endless millennia before this dark era. All humanity lived in complete harmony with the Earth. In symbiotic relationships with all other lifeforms upon the Earth.

Somewhere. At some point in time/space. We humans lost our ecological way. Became the true monsters we are now. Turned against the myriad of lives who in totality sustain life on Earth. Demonizing everything not us. Destroying all in our stupid, insipid, careless path.

Ours has been and continues to be an insane pursuit: the elimination of every other being and life form on Earth. The pitiful exception being only those creatures who we consume. Including those that have no real habitat on Earth except as slaves of humanity.

In fact, in practice, every other life form is locked along with us in a seemingly infinite doom loop. These creatures - along with many of our fellow humanity - condemned to lives of despair and degradation in the service of their masters: men and women themselves lost in deepest ignorance, unimaginable brutality, slavery in all it's evil forms.

Only it's not perpetual. There is a hard stop ahead. The end is as certain as it is misunderstood. Extinction. Ultimately of the very same perpetrators. Humans. Humanity. Us. Me and you and everyone.

• • • • •

There. The task ahead. Ending animal slavery. Ending all slavery. Our mission. The future as ethical, moral, thinking, feeling beings. To act now and forever more. To abolish animal slavery. In so doing and simultaneously, abolishing human slavery. Which, at it's core, shares the same deeply flawed code of conduct and lifestyle: the selfish subjugation and wanton destruction of lives not our own.

Abolition.

Now.
